Reed College Supplemental Informed Consent to Data Processing
Wren Arbor's Thesis - Transfeminine Interactional Styles and Experiences
Spring 2026

On the previous consent form you signed, I explained that I will not share audio recordings of your voice, and that recordings will only be uploaded under password-protected encryption to my Reed College Google Drive as a backup.

If you choose, I will continue to treat the data in this manner. However, if you provide consent on this form, I will upload the recordings to an online service called DARLA which will perform machine transcription. DARLA deletes data after processing and "will not use your data or [the researcher's] email address for any other purpose" (http://darla.dartmouth.edu/about#privacy). There is additionally the option for DARLA to use the Deepgram enhanced speech model, which would automate the first step of its process, which would otherwise be performed manually by me. Deepgram "maintains the right to hold records of uploaded audio data but will not use it for any purpose without permission from the audio owner", and will "only process [the audio data] on behalf and under the instruction of [the audio owner]" (https://deepgram.com/privacy). In this case, the audio owner will be myself. I will not provide permission for any use of the uploaded audio data other than the automated machine-transcription I uploaded it for. Personal names will not be in the version of the recordings uploaded, and the recordings uploaded will not be labeled with your name or any other identifying information.

You have the option to agree to the use of DARLA but not Deepgram.

If you do not consent to one or both of these options, you will still be included in analysis, and will still recieve the monetary incentive associated with the study (if you have not already). In that case, I will manually transcribe your recordings locally on my computer, and will not share the recordings with the service in any way.

I will be glad to answer any questions or concerns you may have about my use of this service. Concerns may also be addressed to my thesis advisor, Professor Allison Casar (acasar@reed.edu), or to the Chair of the Reed College Institutional Review Board, Prof. Luda Korobenko (korobenko@reed.edu, 503-517-4901).
